

2021 Spring Release: Three Bottle Selection Chardonnay Only Wines

2018 Langley Hill Vineyard Chardonnay

Tasting Notes: Exotic with striking texture and richness. Mint and orange peel notes infuse this oily, Chardonnay.

Vineyard: Langley Hill is our largest plot of Estate Chardonnay. It occupies a steep hillside, offering numerous exposures and soil depths. This complex arrangement leads to multiple picks often spread over weeks, rather than days. Langley Hill's is often both the first and last of our Chardonnays to be picked. The vineyard's fractured sandstone over Lambert shale yields Chardonnay that is steely and structured with persistent citrus and mineral flavors.

Alcohol: 14%

Retail: $62

Member: $52.70

2016 Langley Hill Vineyard Chardonnay

Tasting Notes: Langley Hill Chardonnay is all about balance and texture. The 2016 vintage has generous fruit with bright acidity are the hallmarks of this hillside site.

Vineyard: Langley Hill is our largest plot of Estate Chardonnay. It occupies a steep hillside, offering numerous exposures and soil depths. This complex arrangement leads to multiple picks often spread over weeks, rather than days. Langley Hill's is often both the first and last of our Chardonnays to be picked. The vineyard's fractured sandstone over Lambert shale yields Chardonnay that is steely and structured with persistent citrus and mineral flavors.

Alcohol: 14%

Retail: $62

Member: $52.70

2016 Damiana Vineyard Chardonnay

Tasting Notes: Damiana's site expression is a powerful one; the wine offers a combination of richness and freshness. The wine has copious stone fruits buttressed by a spine of acid and phenolic weight.

Vineyard: Our oldest vineyard, planted in 1978, often produces our densest and most opulent Chardonnay. It's exposure is primarily southwestern, which can mean more, which can mean more sun during the growing season; though this site is heavily influenced by maritime breeze most afternoons. Shallow top soils of fractured Lambert shale and mudstone limit vigor and lead to wines with great concentration and intensity. This vineyard is one of our first picks Estate Chardonnay.

Alcohol: 13.50%

Retail: $62

Member: $52.70